Interesting Report of Treasurer

Is Presented

The annual meeting of the Newton Community Chest Council was held at the Brae Burn Club, West Newton recently. Mr. Frank L. Richardson, treasurer, submitted an interesting report of the financial activities of the Chest during the past year. The report in part follows:

Funds are paid out only on the signature of President Leon B. Rogers as authorized by the Board of Directors, and by the Treasurer in so far as expenses of the Treasurer in so far as expenses of the Treasurer's office required, but subject to approval by the Directors.

Fullest co-operation by everyone coming in contact with the Treasurer has been evident at all times. The Savings Banks ordinarily observe a limit of $8,000 for any one joint accounts but they have at our request accepted the large amounts shown on the report, knowing them to be temporary in nature and consequently not available for longer time investment. Such deposits they have carried at a sacrifice to themselves, thereby making a very material contribution to the Chest. As a consequence the Chest has received a larger income from interest than could have been obtained in any other way. The Chest gratefully acknowledges this fine service from the Savings Banks of Newton.

It will be observed that all payments and the service from the saving all payments.

Ward Four

Reckless Driving

Henry F. Prunaret of 90 Withington Ind., Newtonville, was found guilty in the Superior Court at Cambridge on Tuesday of driving a car so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. On the evening of November 2 a car driven by him hit Geraldine Carroll, 14, of 742 Boylston st., Newton Centre, while she was riding a bicycle on the turnpike near her home. She died from her injuries. Judge James imposed a fine of $200 on Prunaret, but later revoked this fine and continued the case until March 29 for final disposition.

Alderman Dennis Cronin of Ward 4, the sole Democratic member on the committee of seven aldermen appointed to study the redistricting of this city's wards, made it known yesterday that he will object to any plan which would include Waban as part of Ward 4. This ward at present is composed of the villages of Auburndale and Lower Falls. The ward is strongly Republican, but the addition of Waban would make it more so. The object of changing the ward lines of the city is to make the population in each more equal. Ward 4 is one of the wards which will have to have more voters added to it, and Ward 5, which now includes Waban, will have to be decreased in size. Alderman Dennis Cronin of Ward

NEWTON SCORES IN RELAY AND BROAD JUMP AT ANDOVER

The Newton track team scored but 2½ points at the Andover interscholastic track meet last Saturday with a fourth place in the standing broad jump and an eighth place in the relay race. The meet was won by Malden high with 18½ points which shaded the total of 17¼ scored by Brookline high. Outstanding in the meet was Ted Plotkin of Brookline who won the standing broad jump, the hurdles and placed second in the high jump. His leap of 10 ft. 9¾ inches in the broad jump smashed all existing records and gave him three additional points under the Andover meet procedure. Thus he scored 15 points alone to keep the Wealthy Towners in the meet. His jump broke the world's record he made last year of 10 ft. 4% inches.

Jesse Hale of Newton placed fourth with a jump of 9 ft. 6 inches.

The Newton relay team of Wittens, Griffin, Quigley and Capt. Miller raced the Brookline quartet and lost a close race after a thrilling battle. The Newton time of 2m. 26 3/5 seconds was exceeded by Medford, which equalled the meet record, Malden, Lawrence, Brockton, Boston Latin, Brookline and Haverhill.

Bob Quigley of Newton won his trial heat in the dash, took second in his quarter final, and failed to qualify in the semi-finals. Liscom and Sloane each placed second in their trial heats of the hurdles but found the semi-final competition too fast. Louis Miller took third place in the first heat of the 300 but did not qualify for the finals. Al Freeman and Ed Charlesworth each took third places in their respective heats in the 600, but their time was not fast enough to get into the point division on the basis of times. Johnson took third place in his heat in the 1000, but here again the time was not fast enough to get into the points.

Tomorrow afternoon the Newton team meets Brookline on the latter's new track. The Newton track team scored but

Figures that Speak

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company presents figures from its Annual Statement for 1933 and makes comparisons which show how the Company has carried on during the five difficult years since 1928

HROUGHOUT a period of almost unparalleled world-wide depression the institution of Life Insurance in America has furnished an example of achievement that wins admiration wherever it is understood.

Between January 1st, 1929 and January 1st, 1934, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which insures the lives of more than 25,000,000 persons nearly one-fifth of the total populations of the United States and Canada-paid to its policyholders and their beneficiaries more than Two Billion Dollars ($2,000,000,000).

During the same period, its policyholders contributed, through their premium payments, toward the increase of more than One Billion Dollars ($1,000,000,000) in the assets held for future distribution to themselves and their beneficiaries.

After payment, during that period, of more than Four Hundred and Fifty Million Dollars ($450,000,000) by way of dividends to policyholders, the Company's surplus was increased by more than One Hundred Million Dollars ($100,000,000).

These figures, of one company alone, are striking evidence of the reliance which the people of the United States and Canada place on the security and protection of life insurance.

Life Insurance is the most effective and satisfactory means of providing for the future of one's self and one's dependents.

AMERICA shows it thinks the world of Nash. The public is not only talking about the 1934 Nash—the public is buying the 1934 Nash. Already shipments of these new models far exceed last year's total production of 1933 models!

"Great!" says America-looking at Nash style. "You've styled a car that's a dream to the eye-and your new Nash interiors walk off with all honors for luxurious treatment."

"Great!" says America-speaking of Nash performance. "You've certainly put new magic into motor car power with your Twin Ignition valve-in-head motor. It gives Nash an entirely different 'feeling' from any other car."

"Great!" says America-of the new Nash built-in clearvision ventilation system; the individually-sprung front wheels (optional at slight extra cost); the coincidental starter; the equal-action brakes-and all the other new Nash developments.

Yes, the new Nash has EVERYTHING! Nash popularity and Nash deliveries register a great success!

TRUTH IS STRANGER THAN FICTION

One of the most daring and dastardly crimes in the history of the country came to amazing revelations this week and is approaching conclusion. Linked with it are many other crimes, the series of which have brought consternation and almost incredulity to the public. Connected with it was the trial of two innocent men, within the shadow of conviction based upon mistaken identity. Connected with it is a young girl, whose activities and whose responsibilities it is not our function to judge or prejudge. The entire story reads like one of the most thrilling novels of crime ever brought up in the imagination of any author of fiction. Truly truth is often stranger than fiction. The public deplores crime, deplores the sordid details of the trial of criminals but the public dependence of the most intrinsical but the public dependence of the sordid details of the trial of criminals, but the public demands justice.

WE ARE WITH DAN. NEEDHAM

Gen. Dan Needham of Newtonville is Commissioner of Public Safety and in his capacity as such the task of solving various crimes is his responsibility and that of his associates. In the case of the Needham bank robbers other agencies also functioned in clearing up the case, the amazing details of which have not yet been entirely revealed. There is plenty of glory to be given and it is not for us to say that this person or that person of the property of the credit. Like any other public official Gen. be given and it is not for us to say that this person or that person should have the credit. Like any other public official Gen. Needham is subject to criticism. Any public official who has ideas and plans and who broaches them in public meets with criticism that is often unjust—unmerited through misunderstanding of the remark and the purposes for which it was made. Gen. Needham is said to have criticised every police officer through his condemnation of their inefficiency. But Gen. Needham goes further and declares that this inefficiency is not the fault of the officer—it is the fault of the lack of opportunity for training to cope with, and the lack of having efficient equipment to contend with modern criminal methods. During the past year in which Gen. Needham has been Commissioner equipment to contend with modern criminal methods. During the past year in which Gen. Needham has been Commissioner of Public Safety he has done a real job. His plans for the future are basically sound and the details are of little concern. We have no hesitation in stating most emphatically that we are with Dan. Needham, all the way.

Under The Gilded

The past week at the State House has been the busiest one of the present Legislative session with the House of Representatives having under consideration the general appropriations' bill presented by the Ways and Means Committee. The annual attempt for flat rate compulsory automobile insurance, the question of restoration of salary cuts of state emtoration of salary cuts of state em-ployees, and other important matters also took up considerable time of the lower branch which necessitated a session yesterday which began at one o'clock and was not adjourned until five o'clock.

On Monday the House rejected an attempt to change the compulsory insurance laws by doing away with the present zone system and making a State-wide flat rate. The question came upon substituting a bill for this purpose for the adverse report of the Committee on Insurance giving several such petitions leave to withdraw. Substitution was refused by a roll-call vote of 121 to 62. Newton's three representatives, Baker, Brimblecom and Luitwieler, voted against substitution. A motion was made by Rep. MacDonald of Chelsea to reconsider at a later session and which was also defeated. Rep. MacDonald then gave notice that he would offer a new bill calling for a popular vote by referenda on the matter. This was brought up at yesterday's session and was again defeated by a roll call with the roll of the roll On Monday the House rejected ar terday's session and was again defeated by a roll-call vote of 140 to 72 with the three voting members from Newton recorded against the proposal.

On Monday the Senate rejected the bill which had been previously substituted in the House making it necessary for the Boston Elevated to employ more guards with one employee. ploy more guards with one employee for every two cars in a rapid transit train. Sen. Hollis was among those who debated the bill and argued against its enactment. A roll-call of 18 to 14 killed the measure.

An authoritative article each week covering important and interesting phases of public school organization and activity.

Prepared under the direction of the School Department. FOLLOWING UP THE AUDIOMETER TESTS Hearing tests, like all others, are of little value unless some use is made of the information obtained. They must be followed up. Loss of hearing is not something to be ashamed of and concealed. It is something to be faced squarely in the open and, so far as possible, overcome. The first step is always an examination by an ear specialist and correction of physical defects that may affect the hearing. Then each case must be studied separately to see what adjustment can be made. Some of the questions to be considered are:

SCHOOL CHATS

(1) Is the pupil's hearing loss so great that it is impossible for him to profit by instruction in the public schools?

(2) Has he progressive deafness?
(3) Is there deafness in the family?
(4) Has he running ears that do not yield to treatment?
(5) Will a seat in an advantageous place suffice?
(6) Is he laboring under the handicap of only a foreign language being spoken in the home?
(7) Is he working up to capacity in his school work?
(8) Is he alert and attentive in the classroom?

A pupil whose hearing loss is so great that his speech and language is affected is placed in a school for the deaf.

At the beginning of the school year, each principal receives a seating list for the pupils with defective hearing, indicating the location in which the pupil should hear to the greatest advantage. For many this solves the entire problem.

LIP READING OPPORTUNITIES

LIP READING OPPORTUNITIES

For others lip reading is advisable. One pupil with a slight hearing loss may need lip reading more than his neighbor with a serious loss. Some pupils who do not hear easily make the extra effort necessary to overcome the handicap, while others fall into habits of list-lessness and inattention, and do not make full use of what hearing they have. Since lip reading, as taught in the Newton schools, trains especially in alertness and concentration, it is valuable training for this latter group. Many of the former group keep up with their classes at the expense of great nerve strain. Lip reading relieves this strain and helps to keep the pupil in better physical condition. For those with a serious loss or a progressive type of deafness lip reading is an absolute necessity. Readjustment is extremely difficult for the adult who suddenly finds his hearing seriously impaired. If he has been equipped with lip reading in his youth, his handicap is greatly minimized. As a rule, the hard of hearing pupil who is a good student in his regular school work seeks lip reading, for he realizes its value and appreciates the opportunity. The objectors are usually the poorer students.

Lip reading is not recommended for any pupil unless it is thought, after due consideration, that it will be a definite advantage in his educational scheme.

Few cities offer greater advantages to the hard of hearing than Newton. The work for children was established in 1930. There have been evening classes in lip reading for the hard of hearing adult since 1924. An afternoon class has been added for those who cannot attend the evening class in hose who have attended express great appreciation and enjoyment of these classes, but the registration is very small in comparison with the known number of hard of hearing persons in Kewton. It is hoped that many more will avail themselves of the opportunities offered.

have entrance to the Charles River Parkway, calls attention to a very unsatisfactory traffic condition which have existed for years. The only approach from Newton Corner to the parkway, unless an autoist goes through Watertown, is along narrow, winding the persons in the Newtons must remove snow from the sidewalks abutting their premises within 2 hours after said snow has ceased to fall. This ordinance refers to tar or cement sidewalks. Notwithstanding the Mayor's instructions, a large percentage of the sidewalks which should have been cleared of snow have not been showled off. Some haven't even been touched by a shovel. In the business sections many store owners or managers who have but from 20 to 30 feet of sidewalk to free of snow, or even a lesser distance, have not obeyed the ordinance after any snowstorm this winter. Even if these who disregard the city ordinance were too busy (or lazy) to shovel off the snow before it hardened into ice, they could have removed it by the application of a few pounds of rock salt; and this salt can be bought for 2 cents the pound. In the meantime, walking on Newton sidewalks is dangerous; especially for old persons.

The oldest inhabitants have had to work their memories overtime to keep up with the mercury, precipitation, etc. of the present winter.

Whatever is responsible I know not but in every well organized group or well ordered community there is the man who is perpetually gloomy. Put it down to human nature or anything that seems to explain the situation, but don't ask me the answer. I met this very fellow at a public reception where there were hundreds of people of all ages. Each seemed to be enjoying himself or herself. So sparkling was the scene that I commented upon it to my grouchy friend. All the response I got was, "Fine place to gather in a lot of germs."

The income tax collectors continue gather in a lot of germs."

The income tax collectors continue to implore the paying public to file their return blanks in January and the public continue to pay no attention to the appeal and make them out and file them at the very last minute, which is in the months of February or to March. Oh, I am not overlooking those prudent souls who always do the right thing and never fail to observe the rules and regulations. Nevertheless, the majority of the dear appeals are procrastinators by instinct and practice and nothing in the way of passing laws can do anything about of passing laws can do anything about it. Scold the public if you will they will not be hurried. There will always be the last minute rush and executive and clerks will continue to complain of excessive demands on their gies and time. Of course there is on solution-abolish income taxes

The Gold I Left Behind

Next to finding one's self on a crowded street at high noon after having neglected to put on one's neektie before leaving the house, I can imagine a discovery no more devastating than to learn suddenly, half a minute before train time, that one has forgotten one's wallet.

What a panic of depressive emotions wells through a man's entire consciousness when his expectant hand, groping through the murky depths of a pocket, comes in contact with nothing more substantial than a few straggling tobacco shreds where should be that small leather container which so frequently contains the major portion of a man's portable possessions.

No one who has not had the actual experience can conjure up in his mind the miserable mental state which accompanies the discovery that his billfold with its bulging stock of vital daily necessities has been left behind. But then, who has not had that experience?

In the old days, before the depression, the failure to remember one's pocketbook was generally attributable to the fact that today he did not wear the suit which he wore yesterday. Nowadays, of course, one doesn't change his suit every day, and the left-behind wallet will probably be mentally located by the loser at once on the mantelpiece at home, on the chiffonier, or possibly in the spare unit of a two-pants suit. But of course that's neither here nor there.

The important item is that you have it not with you. It is train time and, until you return again, it might as well be that you had it not at all, that you had neither money, nor tickets, nor cards, nor postage stamps nor even the tiny package of aspirin which you had slipped into the wallet that you had neither money, nor tick-ets, nor cards, nor postage stamps nor even the tiny package of aspirin which you had slipped into the wallet the night before so you would surely remember in the morning.

And, if there was ever a time you needed aspirin, it is on the day you forget to bring your wallet.

Of course, you get through it, some-how. You borrow a ticket from a fel-low commuter. Money you obtain from an office associate; usually the office an office associate; usually the office boy is the best bet at a time like this The other articles you substitute in one way or another . . . or do without. There, resting innocently on the dresser is the offending wallet. With a feeling of satisfaction and accomplishment you shove it down deep in our pocket.

"There," you say, "I bet I'll never forget you again!"

The Wrong Man

"When it comes to forgetting to pay your fare on the trolley," writes Larry, "the thing that happened to me has it all over the story of the rough conductor you told us of in the column a while ago. No, I didn't forget to pay my fare — my experience was much worse than that.

worse than that.

"It was a crowded trolley and you know what that means. The space around the coin box was jammed with passengers. We were approaching the subway station at Kenmore on our way in town when a nice looking girl joined us. I mean by that she got on the car and stood in the mob at the door. But—and get this—she forgot to pay her fare.

"Now this fair miss—and she was a swell looker—was back to the conduc-he reached over and poked his finger in her back. She was startled and turned, but only part way, and then her eye fell on me. She thought, of her eye fell on me. She thought, of course, I was unduly familiar. She glared, and then, after 'burning me up' with her glances, she looked away. Then the conductor poked her again in the back and again she turned at me. This time she spoke. 'How dare you?' "she demanded.

Politely, but weakly, I explained, "It was not I; it was the conductor." She blushed, paid her dime, but didn't gaze my way again.

Mrs. Alfred E. Thayer, chairman of the American Home department, then introduced her speaker, Miss Naomi Poisson, of the Continental Baking Company, whose demonstration on "Wonder Bread Sandwich Making" was most instructive. She described many new and attractive kinds of sandwiches, and made a large variety of delicious "samples" which were later served at the tea. She was assisted by two of the Club members, Mrs. D. Earle Brackett and Mrs. Sidney B. Sargent.

sisted by two of the Club members, Mrs. D. Earle Brackett and Mrs. Sidney B. Sargent.

The Gypsy Carnival and Tea which followed was a delightful affair. The program opened with singing by the gypsies on the stage. This group was composed of the following Club members: Mrs. Willard C. Church, Mrs. Ernest A. Dockstader, Mrs. Wilson C. Dort, Mrs. Harold Fiske, Mrs. Gordon S. Heath, Mrs. George H. Jackson, Mrs. James W. Messenger, Mrs. Percival Waters, and Mrs. Harry S. Wells. Following the Gypsy Camp Chorus came the "Wandering Musician," Mr. Frank Castano, who played the accordion in a most lively manner, and entered into the spirit of the "Carnival" in splendid fashion. Mrs. George N. Abbott, who looked very charming in her bright orange and yellow gypsy costume, sang as beautifully as usual. A "Strolling Violinist," in the person of Mrs. Thomas Weston, a most talented musician. was next on the program. Miss Jean Perry Stinson, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Stinson, was a very dainty and bewitching "Gypsy Sprite," and her gypsy dance delighted the audience.

During the serving of tea, there was more music and singing by the entertainers, so that by the time fortunes were being told in tea cups by the gypsies, the groups gathered around the tea tables had been transported miraculously to a real gypsy camp, or could easily imagined that to have happened. Sandwiches were served from gaily-colored carts wheeled around the room by three "gypsies", Mrs. Harold Fiske, Mrs. Gordon S. Heath, and Mrs. Malcolm Warren. The fortune tellers were Mrs. D. Webster Anders, Mrs. Ernest A. Dockstader, Mrs. George H. Jackson, Mrs. James W. Messenger, Mrs. Carl Thomas, Mrs. Percival Waters, and Mrs. Harry S. Wells.

Mrs. Alfred E. Thayer and Mrs.

The Club had, as a guest of honor for the afternoon, the director of the Twelfth district, Mrs. Selden E. James, of Wellesley Hills, and she told of the activities of other clubs in the district.

THE DRAMATEURS PRESENT "THE PATRIARCH"

In choosing the tragedy, "The Patriarch," for presentation in the New Church Auditorium last week, the Newton Dramateurs departed from the type of play usually given by amateur companies. This play by Boyd Smith is written against a background not of realism but of poetic and religious idealism which exceeds possibility, even in the isolated mountain regions of West Virginia where the scene is laid. However, the six characters are all picturesque and develop admirable strength as the plot proceeds.

Abner Gaunt, the patriarch of a sheep ranch, has two sons, Joe who is madly in love with Leah Tanner, the "Shea Wolf," and Lem, the older brother, who is unselfishly sympathetic with his brother in his love affair. Leah tells Lem that she loves him, not Joe. He laughs in her face out of loyalty to his brother. Leah is so enraged that she persuades Joe that Lem is really a love thief and so works on his sense of outraged brotherly loyalty that he kills his brother. Following the custom of the region, Abner acts as judge in a family trial, and fortified by scriptural authority, he condemns his son, Joe, to death and Leah to banishment from the mountains which she loves. Sarah Gaunt, the loving mother, who submits to the rule of her husband, and Jeff Tanner, Leah's father and the comedian of the cast, complete the cast. From first to last the tragedy called for the highest display of talent of which the players were capable.

The entire cast took their parts well Willie E Pettison as Abner Abner Gaunt, the patriarch of

of which the players were capable.

The entire cast took their parts well. Willis E. Pattison, as Abner Gaunt, clearly visualized his character and threw unusual power into his acting. Martha Olcott, as Leah Tanner, showed that she is capable of heavier work than she has heretofore done before Newton audiences. She threw herself into her part with abandon and gave the impression of a real villain, but a charming one. Allen R. Bliss as Joe and Irving C. Whittemore as Lem carried their long parts and tense situations admirably and with excellent contrast to each other. Bessie Warren Skelton as the mother and H. Arthur Shute as the comedian completed the picturesque cast.

The scenery was well done and the lighting was especially artistic. The entire performance was an unqualified credit to William C. Grebe, the director, and the entire company.

During January the Volunteer Motor Corps of the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross, numbering 22 drivers for the month, took 144 patients to various hospitals and cllnics—to Newton Hospital, Chlidren's Hospital, Massachusetts General, Middlesex Sanitarium, and Wellesley Convalescent Home. The patients are recommended by hospitals or agencies as being physically unable to go by bus or trolleys so this service has been greatly appreciated by all receiving it. Calls for transportation are numerous and more volunteers for the work would be most acceptable. As it is now, a great burden falls on a willing but tired few. During January the Volunteer Mc

George Kellar, Secretary of School Department, Explains How Cost of Schools Has Been Reduced

Newton's unique system of school operation costs, about which other schools throughout the country have been enquiring, were disclosed for the first time on Tuesday by George Kellar, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Secretary of the Newton School Committee, and purchasing agent of the department, in an address at the Charles River Country Club before the Newton Kiwanis Club. School books, supplies, transportation, music, physical education, etc.,—in fact all of the school costs except those represented in salaries, fuel and power, it was explained, are operated on a budget account that is broken up into 36 subdivisions. Each school is allotted a certain amount of money, based upon its pupil population. Senior High Schools are allowed $10 per pupil, Junior High Schools $9 per pupil, and the elementary schools $5 per pupil. Furniture and all other items required cannot exceed the pupil population allotment.

Mr. Kellar, who is recognized as one of the foremost experts in school operations costs, described how a $100,000 cafeteria business is conducted in the Newton schools under his direction each year, how a 9½ million dollar school plant is maintained at a cost of one-half of one per cent per annum, how school supplies have been standardized so that the lowest possible purchasing prices are obtained, and how scientific methods have been utilized to guard the health of pupils during the 180 days they are in school is coerted through an order register.

Purchasing supplies for each school is operated through an order register, upon which every order is entered and giving a value, whether actual or estimated, so that in a very few min-utes school directors can ascertain the amount expended and the balance remaining in any one or all the various school appropriations. Moreover, a statement is prepared each month showing the balance of each allotment and all school directors are notified of the amounts remaining to their credit. Under no circumstances is any person allowed to exceed his allotment.

Great care is taken in the quality

any person allowed to exceed his allotment.

Great care is taken in the quality of merchandise purchased and from time to time chemical analyzes are made by reputable concerns. One such material being liquid soap, which is tested particularly for its alkali content. In as much as this soap is used throughout all the schools, in all shower baths, it is necessary that a soap as nearly neutral as possible be supplied. Up to nine years ago, it was the custom in Newton to use cake soap, and very little of that, with practically no facilities whatever for the proper washing of the hands of children. Since that time, every school has been equipped with dispensers and either liquid or powdered soap, and paper towels so that the children have at hand every modern convenience for their comfort.

Standardization of purchases has been perfected to such an extent that ence for their comfort.

Standardization of purchases has been perfected to such an extent that a list of 220 items existing in 1924 has now been reduced to 130. By such standardization quantities are distributed among fewer items allowing quantity buying and consequent lower prices. Formerly there were 110 types of school furniture used but standardization has brought the number of kinds down to 4 at the present time.

ber of kinds down to 4 at the present time.

The gross business of the cafeterias in 1932 and 1933 was nearly $100,000 and showed a net profit to the city of $500, one of the few school systems in the state which did not show a deficit in this particular branch of the work. The cafeterias are in charge of a trained dietitian, who plans the menus and selects the food best for children of school age. Helpings are generous and the cost is kept low while the standard remains high.

Each year the School Department representatives, in conjunction with the Public Buildings Department of the City, visits each school to note the major items of maintenance which are necessary for the current year, and such items form the basis of the maintenance budget which this year will be about $50,000. In as much as the valuation of Newton schools is about 9½ millions, the city is spending for maintenance about one-half of one percent. The average for industrial plants is about three times that amount.

Nowhere in the United States is amount.

Nowhere in the United States is greater care taken for guarding the health of the children during school hours. Mr. Kellar explained that frequent inspections are made by the School Department in all school buildings, and a check made on matters affecting the safety and health of the children. Exit doors must open easily, fire alarms must be in order at all (Continued on Page 2)

BROOKLINE DEFEATS NEWTON ON TRACK

IN FINAL DUAL MEET In its final dual meet of the 1934 season the Newton High school track team was defeated by the strong Brookline High team last Saturday on the Wealthy Towners' new track. Captain Ted Plotkin of Brookline, scoring 14½ points, was the leading star in the 43½ to 33½ victory for Coach Tom Hines' outfit. Plotkin was closely followed by his teammate, Art Rogers, who tallied 12 points. The Newton points were well distributed with Warren Whittens the only lad placing in two events, other than the relay runners. Brookline's sweep in the broad jump was offset by Newton's sweep of all the points in the 1000-yard run.

Plotkin easily won the broad jump and Grenier and Rogers, his teammates, tied for second.

Plotkin could also have won the high jump but was content with a tie for first place with his teammate, Lowenstein, as the two outjumped MacLean of Newton in third place.

Newton captured the relay race with Whittens, Griffin, Quigley and Miller, but Brookline was too far ahead in points to close the gap.

OUR LADY HIGH TAKES LEAD IN CATHOLIC BASKETBALL RACE

Our Lady High jumped into the lead in the Greater Boston Catholic High school basketball league race this week by defeating Immaculate Conception high of Revere, 33 to 26, on Tuesday while St. Mary's of Lynn was staging one of the biggest upsets of the year in humbling the leading Cathedral High five of Boston, 23 to 20. The margin by which the Newton team is in front is about as silm as it could be but getting into first place may provide the incentive to keep them there. Our Lady High has chalked up twelve wins as against two defeats with Cathedral High a half game behind with an 11-2 rating. St. Charles High of Waltham is a close third with eleven wins and three losses.

Faculty manager Dr. Oscar Martin and Track Coach Don Enoch of Newton High are planning a quadrangular outdoor track meet on Newton's oval on May 11th. It will be the first time in local scholastic history that four outstanding schools have thus gotten together. The four teams which will compete will be Newton High, Medford High, Everett High and Lynn Classical High. It is hoped that the affair can be made an annual fixture.

Aldermen Hold Shortest Session In Many Years

The shortest regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen within recent years was held on Monday night. The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock by President Collins. Aldermen Gordon and Howlett were absent, the former because of the death of his father. The meeting continued until 8:10 when a recess was taken until 8:44. The meeting then was resumed, to adjourn at 8:49.

The first matter on the docket was a hearing on the petition of Frank Vincenzo for a permit to conduct a gasoline filling station at 1105 Washington street, West Newton, at the corner of Cross street. President Collins announced that this hearing was postponed until March 19 because notices had not been properly sent out by the petitioner. Vincenzo has twice before petitioned for a station permit at this locus and has been turned down.

The names of three citizens were drawn; the owners to serve as jurors at the civil business session of the Superior Court at Cambridge in April. They are: Clarence Dales, 14 Exeter street; Walter F. Sisson, 62 Austin street; Sewell Fessenden, 100 Essex road. Six names were drawn from the jury list for jury service at the criminal sessions of the Middlesex Superior Court next month. They are: Donald Whitney, 65 Clark street; Payson Lowell, Jr., 11 Washington Park; Joseph Gelary, 51 Circuit avenue; John Dunleavy, 22 Gilbert street; H. Morton Hill, 8 Chesterfield road.

A communication was received from Mayor Weeks recommending budget appropriations of $4,333,066,29 for the conduct of city affairs during this year; this money to be raised by tax levy. Also recommending that $237,524.11 be appropriated for the expenses of the Water Department; the money to be taken from water revenue. These recommendations were referred to various committees for consideration.

The only appropriation made by the Board was that of $843,56 for a pension for Patrolman S. Joseph Reeves of the Newton police department who retired from active duty last Friday, having reached the age of 65. When the matter authorizing a continuation of the bond of Louis Ebb as a constable of Newton came up, Alderman Gronin asked for information concerning Ebb. The Ward 4 alderman said that he has heard much criticism the past couple of years to the effect that Ebb is not a resident of Newton. He asked—"When was Ebb appointed a constable of rown and acconstable for this city two years ago, the matter was threshed out. Collins stated that Ebb was and is a resident of Newton. He has an office on School street, Boston and another office in the Stuart Building, $27 Beacon street, Newton Centre.

On favorable recommendation of the Licenses Committee the Board voted to grant a permit for a gasoline filling station at 328 Washington street, Newton to A. J. Wellington, G. M. I Hammar and James K. Losee. This ilocus is on the property formerly cowned by the late Elmer Parkhurst, i opposite Peabody street. In addition to the filling station now nearly completed at the corner of Washington and Peabody streets, it will mean two new stations near Newton Corner. The Board also voted to grant the petition of Daniel Barnicle for additional tanks and pumps at his station on Lexington street, near Auburn street, Auburndale. #### MUNICIPALITIES BENEFIT

About ten days ago income tax-payers were called upon to ay at least one-half of the amount due the state for incomes ceived during the year 1933. The change made from previous pay at least one-half of the amount due the state for incomes received during the year 1933. The change made from previous years when payments of such taxes were deferred until early fall is of direct benefit to the cities and towns of the state. Prior to this year the municipalities were forced to wait until late in the year before the share of income taxes due them was distributed. This year, because of the payment of half the amount due, these municipalities will receive half of the amount due them before April 15th, thus making it unnecessary for borrowing in anticipation of the receipts of this money. Many of our cities and towns have been finding it difficult to borrow except at a high rate of interest. Distribution of these funds will give them ready money to meet current expenses. While it may have been unpopular in the public mind once the situation is understood much of the objection will be dissipated.

A FUTILE QUEST

The most important question to he gonsidered in regard to pay at least one-half of the amount due the state for incomes received during the year 1933. The change made from previous

The most important question to be considered in regard to the proposal to send a commission of legislators to England to study court action and procedure is, we believe, not so much the cost of such a commission, but as to what can be accomplished. It is practically impossible to believe that any commission. sion could make sufficient study in a ten-day stay there to enable it to report intelligently upon the subject than is already available in our law schools. It seems to us a futile quest although we endorse the objective of the plan—to consider methods by which our own court procedure may be speeded up and our court dockets cleared for action.

SMALL REDUCTION IN BUDGET.

It is not surprising that the city budget of 1934 is but slightly less than that of last year. The excellent financial standing of less than that of last year. The excellent mancial standing of the city and careful supervision of expenses during the past few years of the depression are outstanding in the administration of city affairs by Mayor Weeks. Unless there is a material in-crease in the state tax it is probable that the taxpayers can anticipate a tax rate very close to that of last year.

The snow was whirling, swirling and cutting-up and cutting-in generally. A cynical man of my acquaintance and I were plodding along, searching for a pole-stop of the Boston Elevated cars to Boston. We came to one at last. There stood an attractive young weman. She seemed far more brave than we. At least her face, which was beautiful, showed no traces of disgust such as our own wore. Her rosy cheeks made us envious—or at least I was covetous of them. She really was a snappy number. When we were seated together—my male companion and I, of course—and the car was ploughing its way to

But the barrels had to be emptied Out in the street there was a commotion. A truck had become stalled on the glacial surface. Suddenly the householder heard the doorbell ring. He answered and was met with the query, "Can we have some ashes?" Could they? "Sure, take all you want." The truckmen brought their own pails. Rolled the barrels into the yard, emptied them and carried them back into the cellar. The householder isn't mean or anything like that, but he is willing that more trucks should become stalled at his door.

Often it has occurred to me that a research secretary, as they are called, would be a great help. by myself. The work will not be performed —but with sufficient care to serve the purpose. With a research secretary to whom I could say, "Please look this up and let me know more about it," I feel that I should soon become a paragon of erudition. In view of such calamitous possibility perhaps I'd better stay as I am.

What I most desire to learn at the present moment is the etiquette of footwear. It has been necessary, as all can readily testify, to have one's feet covered and covered well against the rigors of our glorious and intensive winter. That matter is simple. What to do with one's overshoes or rubbers when calling is another. It has always been a source of embarrassment to me to drop in for a friendly visit and give up the first and last 15 minutes to removing and putting on my overshoes. I am not skilled in the art. Getting them on demands first of all a chair in which I may place myself. Then I require plenty of elbow room and a reasonable amount of energy, for in the struggle I extend my elbows considerable distance and grunt—yes, sometimes groan before I am properly shod.

Removal, as far as I am concerned, requires first of all something to grath hold of in order to keep my balance.

SCHOOL CHAT

An authoritative article each week covering important and interesting phases of public school organization and activity. Prepared under the direction of the School Department.

CASE STUDIES INVOLVING HEARING PROBLEMS Here we have some real life cases of children in the Newton schools who have been helped through the testing and follow-up service rendered by the School Department.

TOO LATE

Alice had scarlet fever when she was a baby, followed by suppurating ears. The parents paid no attention to the ear trouble, saying it was "nothing but running ears" and that lots of people had them. When, at last, she was taken to an ear clinic it was too late to save her hearing, which was then seriously defective. She will probably be totally deaf in a few years, the victim of neglect. We can give lip reading, which will help, but can never take the place of the hearing that might have been saved.

PREPAREDNESS

PREPAREDNESS

The audiometer tests showed that Tom had a slight hearing loss. When taken to an ear specialist, it was found that he had some slight ear trouble. Because of a history of deafness in the family, his parents requested that he be placed in the lip reading class. He is now an excellent lip reader. He has the right attitude toward his handicap. If his deafness increases, his handicap will be greatly minimized because of his preparation for it.

TONSILS AND ADENOIDS

Jack's audiometer test of June, 1933, showed a serious hearing loss, though his hearing had been normal in the 1932 test. A history of grippe and heavy colds during the winter was given. A special test in September showed that his hearing had not improved during the summer. When taken to an ear clinic, a tonsil operation was advised and performed. Another test two months later showed his hearing to be normal once more.

IN THE NICK OF TIME

IN THE NICK OF TIME

Virginia's parents had received notices that her hearing was defective for two years, but no action was taken. When interviewed, the mother said, "I didn't pay any attention to the notices for the hearing loss didn't seem enough to be worth bothering about, but I will take her to an ear specialist if you think it necessary. Come to think of it, when I have visited school I have noticed that Virginia had a strained expression on her face all the time. Possibly it is because she doesn't hear well." An ear specialist was consulted and told the mother that if she had allowed another year to pass without treatment, he could not have prevented increasing deafness for her daughter. Treatment for several months restored the hearing to normal and no further trouble has appeared.

"SHE DIDN'T PAY ATTENTION"

"SHE DIDN'T PAY ATTENTION"

Greta's hearing loss had been slowly increasing for several years according to the audiometer tests. The mother refused to have the child's ears examined, insisting that she always heard when she was spoken to at home, "if she paid attention", and that she could pass the audiometer test at school if she paid attention. Finally Greta was taken to the Eye and Ear Infirmary where an individual hearing test with a different type of audiometer revealed a loss of approximately 25% in both ears. Greta's lack of attention was explained, but what the future holds in regard to her hearing has not yet been determined.

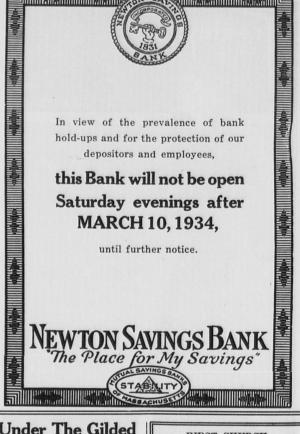

SHE LEARNED TO LISTEN AND TO CONCENTRATE

SHE LEARNED TO LISTEN AND TO CONCENTRATE
Mary was a third grade girl with a slight hearing loss. She was below the average of her class in her school work, listless and inattentive and was placed in the lip reading class, even though her hearing impairment was not great. After a few months of lip reading her teacher wrote, "Mary is a different child from the restless, inattentive little girl who came to me in September. She has learned to listen and to concentrate. She is now one of my most responsive pupils." Mary is no longer in the lip reading class, but her hearing loss and her standing in her school work are checked frequently.

There are many who believe that ical and dictatorships are necessary recent action of the majority of members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives in voting or a restoration of salaries of State for a restoration of salaries of state employees (including their own salaries) to the formel level, will not tend to lessen the belief of those who contend that government of and by the people is a failure. And on top of this, with hundreds of thoutop of this, with hundreds of thousands of Massachusetts residents penniless, or nearly so, some of our brilliant Legislators vote to send a commission to England to study how they enforce law over there. Last year the people of this State were taxed to pay for a junket of a large sized committee of Massachusetts legislators to Quebec for the alleged purpose of having them study the control of liquor in that province. It is more than probable that most of those members of our State govern-

Under The Gilded Dome

The House of Representatives this week spent many hours in debate up-on several matters. On Tuesday on a roll-call vote of 109 to 105 a resolve on several matters. On Tuesday on a roll-call vote of 109 to 105 a resolve offered by Rep. Martin Hayes of Brighton calling for the appointment of a commission of five members of the Legislature to go to England for a ten-day study of court action and procedure there and report back on May first was rejected. On Wednesday Rep. Hayes moved reconsideration which was voted on a roll-call of 127 to 71 and the bill ordered to a third reading. Rep Hayes then asked suspension of the rules in order that it might be further acted on at the time but objection was raised by Rep. Cole of Taunton. Unanimous consent being necessary to suspend the rules, the matter then had to go over until Thursday for its final reading. At that session Rep. Hayes offered an amendment to the resolve enlarging it to provide for two appointees by Governor Ely in addition to the five members of the General Court. This, he explained, was necessary, as under the rules permitting committees of the Legislature to travel a two-thirds vote is necessary before the bill could be enacted. After considerable further debate the amendment was adopted by a roll-call vote of 101 to 91. On all roll-calls the three Newton Representatives, Baker, Brimblecom and Luitwieler, were opposed to the creation of the commission.

Another matter which occasioned considerable debate on Tuesday was that of acceptance of the report of the Committee on Highways and Mo-tor Vehicles giving leave to withdraw on several petitions seeking to change the date of automobile registrations from January 1st to April 1st. Rep. Lasell of Northbridge offered a sub-stitute bill which after lengthy debate

About Town

A resident of Quebec who journeyed to this city last week to attend a relative's funeral was 36 hours behind schedule in traveling by train from Quebec City to Boston. There was 12 feet of snow on the level in the Canadian province just 300 miles north of here, and drifts were 30 feet high. In northern Quebec the drifts were over 50 feet high. And folks here were complaining about too much snow this winter.

There should be a law compelling those newspapers which print "sobstuff" about the last hours of condemned murderers to print alongside of such drivel an account of the last minutes of the victims of such murderers. This might tend to lessen the number of persons who indulge in misplaced sympathy for cold-blooded killers.

One way to lessen the tendency of too many youths to adopt criminal careers is to prohibit moving pictures which depict crime and gangster ac-tivities.

"Greetings, Animated and Otherwise" is the curiosity-provoking title appearing on the program for the meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon, the 13th, at 2.30 o'clock. Other cards will portray the nation's holidays including Easter, Fourth of July, Washington's Birthday, and Christmas. Wedding Anniversaries, including everything from the wooden to the diamond, will also be featured.

Mrs. Walter Wells and Mrs. Donald Williams have planned this most unusual pregram and will have the assistance of over thirty of the members of the Club, several of whom are professionals. An orchestra will furnish music.

In France the gardens of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries were of two entirely different kinds, the formality of court life under Louis XIV being reflected in the order and symmetry fundamental in the seventeenth century gardens, a "disciplined" formal garden as typified by the famous garden at Versailles; while in the eighteenth century a change in life at court brought to the garden variety, charm, and romance, with a more natural and luxuriant growth of trees and winding paths. The speaker also mentioned the British and Chinese influence on French gardens, and illustrated his talk by interesting stereopticon pictures.

The Club is especially fortunate in being able to claim such a talented artist as Mrs. Madden was accompanied on the plano by Ann Nichols, the chairman of the Music committee. The guest speaker for the afternoon was Dr. Tehyi Hsieh, Chinese diplomat from the Chinese Service Bureau. His subject was "Manchuria, Inside and Out." He spoke of Manchuria, the Balkans of the East, the New England of China, in its historical background, its political relationships, its racial significance, and its influence. He described China, his China, as only a keen, intellectual countryman could know it, and awake ened his listeners to a new conception of China and its possibilities. He brought a message of hope in that he viewed world conditions upon which he is a recognized authority, as greatly improved, stating that there is every tendency toward world peace and international good-will. Dr. Hsieh was enthusiastically applauded. Mrs. Carl G. Cutler, chairman of the Art committee, and her associates, arranged an interesting exhibit of Chinese Art in the Gallery.

"In times past a woman's birthday was mentioned only twice; first, when her proud father inscribed the date in the family Bible, and later, when a stonemason etched it on her tombstone. ### Boston Welfare Work a Contrast

Work a Contrast
To Other Cities
So Says Family Welfare Head
In Addressing Newton Welfare Board

"Boston presents a marked contrast in the handling of its relief problems to New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and many other large cities," said Malcoim Nichols, executive secretary of the Boston Family Welfare society, in addressing the Newton Welfare Bureau at its annual meeting held on the afternoon of February 28. "The bread lines, soup kitchens and apple vendors so much in evidence in many other large cities are not found here."
"The plan of handling relief through private agencies and benevolence, as and advocated by former President Here bett Hoover, broke down under the strain," said he. "In 1930, 67 per cent of the funds for relief came from public sources. Today 95 per cent of such money comes from government source, es. The responsibility for relief over the country in general has passed into official hands. This shift in responsibility has not been smarked in Massachusetts."

Mr. Nichols also said that a new set of problems have arisen in the field of family welfare work. In two families out of every five needing help of welfare agencies, real illness is a serious problem. In one family out of every eight needing attention, there is one member retired because of old age. He said that these and other new problems will be met by the type of social service work which has been carried on in Massachusetts for years. However, it must be adapted to new conditions, and ideas must be found for serving a changing clientele.

He said that the question of leisure time is assuming a new importance.

"One of two things are bound to happen: either part of the people will be employed all of the time and a large number will be continually idle, or all of the people will be employed part of the time, giving greatly increased hours of leisure to be disposed of."

All Newton Joins in Tribute To Memory of Fr. Mantle, Curate of Our Lady Church

Numerous Civic Leaders and Clergy Present at Last Rites for Priest Who Had Endeared Himself to All During Long Active Service-Church Full to Overflowing

REV. ROBERT M. MANTLE

More than 2000 persons crowded into Our Lady's Church at Newton last Saturday morning, and hundreds more stood outside in the churchyard at the funeral service of Rev. Robert M. Mantle for 15 years curate and assistant pastor at the church. Father Mantle died suddenly of heart failure at his parents' home in Dorchester the preceding Wednesday. The esteem in which he was held by his fellow clergymen was evidenced by the fact that more than 200 priests were present at the service.

that more than 200 priests were present at the service.

The solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Joseph Mantle of St. Catherine's Church, Charlestown, brother of the deceased. Rev. Lyman Merrill of Cambridge, was deacon; Rev. William Desmond of South Boston, subdeacon; Rev. George Casey of Weymouth, master of ceremonies; Rev. John Stenson of Roxbury, thurifer; Rev. Matthew Duggan, St. Elizabeth's Hospital, and Rev. Conrad Quirbach, Winchester, acolytes. Rt. Rev. Francis J. Spellman of Newton Centre, auxiliary bishop of the diocese, was present in the sanctuary. He was attended as chaplains by Monsignor Francis Burke of Jamaica Plain, and Rev. Lawrence Slattery of Newton. The priests' choir under the direction of Rev. Walter Lambert of Somerville sang Haller's Mass.

Among those who attended were Among those who attended were Mayor Weeks and a delegation composed of members of the Board of Aldermen, department heads and members of the Mayor's Relief Committee. Ex-Mayor E. O. Childs was also present and delegations from the various Catholic societies were among ous Catholic societies were among the mourners. The eulogy was deliv-ered by Rev. Stephen Moran of St Church, Cambridge. Father Moran said:

an eminent degree. The charity of Father Mantle can be best described by St. Paul: 'Charity is patient, is kind; Charity envieth not, dealeth not perversely, is not puffed up; is not ambitious, seeketh not her own, is not provoked to anger, thinketh no evil!'

"How fitting are these words! If ever there was a genuine, genial, and gentle soul, Father Mantle was one. He had a heart are big as himself; it was a heart burning with a love of God and zealous for the good of others. In the pulpit his message was genuine and direct; in the confessional he possessed a sympathetic kindness for the wayward; in the sicknoom his cheerful smile and humorous manner bespoke the greatness of his soul. The children of the school instinctively recognized his fatherly care and love; the members of the different societies enjoyed his kindly direction and advice; the poor of the city and the parish shared his all embracing charity. Those who met him, shook hands with him or spoke with him, knew that they were face to face with a genuine priest and man. He disliked all sham, affectation and pretense. Simple and gentle, he seldom used the weapon of anger. His labors finally exhausted him; tired and weary he wended his weary way home. His heart worn out, he died in the arms of his mother. In the thirteenth station the body of Jesus was taken from the cross and laid in the arms of His Mother—here another Christ is laid in his mother's arms. He had given his all that the people of this parish might be better, nobler and happier. thians. 13/13.)

"Father Mantle has gone home. This genuine, genial and gentle soul has gone to his master and maker. Today, Father Mantle sees his God face to face with actual vision, a fitting reward for a great soul who constantly looked at God through the eyes of faith. His life was a triumph for the spiritual, a soul that winged its way through life preserving its heavenly destiny; here on earth he leaves a noble heritage. He has reared a noble structure in the hearts and souls of the faithful. His presence here was like the Star of Bethlehem leading us on to Christ. His lofty soul, his noble character, his sterling traits are shining beacons that have directed us along the paths of true nobility and heavenly sanctity. God sent him as a noble example, a worthy model, the supernatural made manifest that we might "The character Christ the idea!"

"The character Christ, the ideal standard of the christian mind and heart is the common heritage of all who have received the sonship of God the Father. That universal light which enlighteneth every man that cometh into the world can be better known and more dearly cherished when it is brought near to us by its personal reflection in some human being whom we know, some character whose friendship we have been privileged to enjoy. Such was Father Mantle! There are many types of saints, yet they are all God's chosen friends; of this barish might be better, nobler and happier.

"Many, many times Father Mantle preached in his own eloquent and direct way. He often reminded us of the vanity of this world, its emptiness and fleeting honor; he reminded us that we know not the day nor the hour when God will call us home. He not only preached this, yea, he lived it. He himself was snatched into Eternity with hardly a word of warning. Today his eyes are closed, his lips are sealed, his arms are motionless, yet we are all listening to his last eloquent sermon: 'Vanity of vanities and all the world is vanity.'

Incendiary Fire Razes Building Termed an "Eye Sore" The large ice house at Crystal Lake

Newton Centre was destroyed by a spectacular fire early last Sunday morning. The blaze was discovered at 4:30 by John Newman of 1026 Boylston street, Newton Highlands, who was operating a snowplow. Newman drove to Engine 3 house on Willow street and gave the alarm A man drove to Engine 3 house on Willow street and gave the alarm. As second alarm was sounded at 4:45 and a third at 5 o'clock. The fire, obviously of incendiary origin, started on the runway and worked into the structure and had gained great headway when the firemen arrived. As in most ice house fires, the ground bark used for insulation purposes between the walls, provided highly inflammable fuel for the flames and the building blazed in a spectacular manner with burning embers traveling a considerable distance. It was noontime Sunday before the fire apparatus could leave the scene, and the bark between such of the walls left standing continued to smolder for several days following the fire.

The building was constructed of tile days following the fire.

The building was constructed of tile and was erected in 1915 to replace wooden ice houses which had burned. Ice had not been stored in the structure for the past few winters; the Crystal Lake Company having sold out its business to the Metropolitan Ice Company which uses mostly artificial ice. Recently a petition was filed by a Newton Centre resident for a permit to use part of the building as an automobile washing plant. Strong objections were entered against this petition, largely from residents of Newton Highlands. The ice house was termed "an eyesore", and it was urged that the city buy the property for park purposes and remove the building.

The building was insured for $10,

The building was insured for $10,000 and the runway for $10,000. The loc house was completely destroyed and the runway largely ruined. During the progress of the fire a large section of wall collapsed shortly after the crew of Engine 2 retreated from near it. The remainder of this wall, and another wall on the Norwood avenue side of the building, were later razed; dynamite being used in the process. The State Fire Marshal's office has been making an investigation of the fire.

Many of the larger edifices, however, have been turned into anti-religious museums. The housing problem however, particularly in the cities, is a serious one. Mr. Lucht told the story of a Russian professor, who with his wife and three children, are forced to live in two rooms, whereas formerly his family lived in a very splendid 9-room apartment.

He stressed the fact that the government is apparently centering its interest in the youth of the country, and that all activities seem to tend toward gaining and holding the interest of the young people.

Second places in the 600-yard and 1000-yard run by Allan Freeman and Tom Fitzgerald together with Bob Quigley's fourth place point in the dash and fifth best time by the Newton relay team gave Newton High fifth place in the annual State track meet last Saturday with ten points. The Boston Garden track was the scene of nine record-breaking performances in Class A and Class B in the annual affair. Class A in which Newton competes was won easily by Malden High with 26 points. Boston English High placed second with 14 points with the next four teams closely bunched. Lynn Classical and Brockton edged Newton High the former scoring 10 5/6 points and the later 10 1/3 points. The orange and black ten points were enough to shade its closest rival, Brockline High, which team tallied nine points, seven of which were credited to Capt. Tod Plotkin.

Tommy Fitzgerald of Newton led the pack in the second heat of the 1000-yard run and had a comfortable margin on the field. He turned in a time of 2 min. 25 2/5 seconds. In the initial heat at this distance Arthur Cox of Boston English High had been clocked in 2 min. 22 4/5 seconds for a new record. Had the pair been racing each other in the same heat it would have been a real battle as neither had much opposition in their respective heats.

Allan Freeman drew the first heat in the 600-yard run and had among his opponents Capt. Lyman Gilli so Brockton. When the heat was over Gillis had set up a new record of min. 17 4/5 seconds with Freeman finishing a strong second in 1 min. 20 seconds flat. Neither of the following two heats were run in as fattime and Freeman's second stood.

Quigley found the opposition pretty stiff in the dash but won his trial heat over Edward Malk of Lynn Classical. In the first semi-finial Jivelikian of Malden won with Quigley second so that both qualified for the final tajulation for the semi-finials by finishing second in the first trial heat but did not place in the second semi-finial.

It is through mosaics that Ravenna became the capital of Christian art. In the church of Saint Appolinaris man's first attempts at religious portrayal are seen. These are two tiers of mosaics representing 44 martyrs who surfered under Diocletian. Here, also, is found the representation of Jesus casting out the devils. The belief in the powers of the divine caused the artist to make the figure of Jesus three times the size of the human figure. #### CHANGING OUR POLICE METHODS

Governor Ely has recommended legislation looking toward the co-ordination of the police systems of the state, cities and towns. There can be no question of the necessity and desirability for taking some such steps as have been suggested. Many city officials and local police authorities have expressed themselves in favor of legislation designed to aid in the solution of the problem of handling crime. Many citizens are also urging that steps be taken to this end. We are concerned, however, with the details which go to make up the plan that will eventually be adopted. It is these very details that will make the plan a success or a failure. Any new plan must provide for adequate equipment and training, efficiency of administration and co-operation, elimination of politics and domination by selfish individuals or groups, and must include many other features. tures. In all probability the city of Newton is one of a number of municipalities among the least in need of such co-ordination but the entire problem is of sufficient importance so that Newton is ready to join with the plan that is best for all.

A MUNICIPAL GOLF COURSE

Some weeks ago we commented upon the advantages to be obtained from a municipal golf course in Newton. We were greatly impressed with the opportunity to obtain such a course at the least possible expense as the availability of a local course upon a trial option seemed too good to abandon. Mayor Weeks and a committee of the Board of Aldermen have gone into the matter in detail and it is to be regretted that estimated figures disprove the contention that a municipal golf course would be self-supporting. With indications pointing to the need of expenditures from the tax levy in order to maintain a municipal course there can be no other answer than to refuse

And now for a bit of worthwhile information for radio lovers. Says "Radio World," "The total number of registered listeners in Iceland on Dec. 31, 1933, was 8,300—an increase of 2,612 year. Almost all the new registrations come from the west of the country." Cold facts which prove the power of the loud-speaker.

And the big task for so-called civilized nations is to adjust economic, political and social conditions so that mature persons as well as youth can have an equitable share in the production and distribution of wealth.

We are skeptical about the co-ordination of police forces resulting in the freeling of all the police in this State from outside influence and favoritism. Especially when we remember the case of one person who makes such a statement, and who is prominent in this co-ordination movement. We have a distinct recollection of what happened several years ago when this person was arrested for a certain offence, convicted in a district court, an appeal taken, and the subsequent change of testimony on the part of police concerned in this case. If one has the influence, it will be less difficult to "fix" a case with all the police under one head in Massachusetts, than it is now.

It is now.

Some folks opine that the action of one military man in having been present at the formation of the citizen's committee for public safety, and having nominated as head of this committee another military man, had all the appearance of "team work." Of course no military man is gunning for an appointment as one of the executives of the proposed co-ordinated police force of this State. Neither has a certain college professor, quite prominent in this movement, any political ambition; such as running for governor. ernor.

Assuming that the reason for police is to protect life and property, and that life is more important than property, and realizing that more than property, and realizing that more than it wenty persons each week, on the average, are killed by automobiles in Massachusetts, why haven't the many thousands of citizens now all wrought up about the police situation displayed a little interest in the past in stopping the appalling number of killings by automobiles? Why have not the State Police been patrolling State highways to the extent they did in the early years of the existence of this force? Why don't local police forces give more attention to control of traffic, and not concentrate so much on cruising cars, radio, machine guns

Suspicion falls on the famous actor who has been starring in the play, on a radio attendant, on a rival producer and on the producer himself."

Think of that for a plot! As one of the great multitude of armchair detectives I shall have to obtain a copy of that novel even if I have to send to England to borrow it.

SCHOOL CHATS

An authoritative article each week covering important and interesting phases of public school organization and activity. Prepared under the direction of the School Department.

HOME INSTRUCTION OF PHYSICALLY-HANDICAPPED CHILDREN PROVIDED BY THE NEWTON SCHOOL DEPARTMENT

A RECENT DEVELOPMENT

Although it is more than, three years since the Massachusetts legislature passed the law providing for home teaching for the physically-handicapped child, comparatively few people realize that such a law exists, or that its intention is to provide the advantages of public school teaching for those unable to attend school.

Home instruction for the physically-handicapped children of Newton was undertaken first in December, 1930. The total number of pupils who have since been given home instruction is thirty-seven. The largest number of pupils receiving home instruction at any one time is seventeen, which was the enrollment for the month of February, 1934. This work is being handled thru the services of one full-time teacher and three part-time teachers.

CASES ARE SELECTED WITH GREAT CARE

CASES ARE SELECTED WITH GREAT CARE

Before the child is enrolled, a visit is made to the home, contact is made with the child's doctor, and plans for his education and well-being are carefully considered. We have found that home teaching is not the solution of every problem; as in the case of a child who, with adequate treatment, could attend school; or a child whose home conditions warrant his placement elsewhere; or one who requires the more careful medical supervision of an institution, such as the Massachusetts Hospital School at Canton, which provides splendid facilities for education as well as medical care. In finding such cases as these, we have arranged for the child's placement, working with state and city agencies. A few have not been enrolled because they were unpromising mentally—such a decision made only after very careful check-up by the school department psychologist.

RESULTS HAVE BEEN GOOD

RESULTS HAVE BEEN GOOD

Home teaching has proved itself to be of great value to the physically-handicapped child who is out of school over an extended period of time for treatment, but who eventually will return to the classroom. By home teaching such a child need not be greatly retarded in his school work by loss of time. In fact, a happily occupied mind seems to promote physical recovery. Very often with these cases the teacher can help the pupil overcome special weaknesses or can clear up an individual difficulty that has perplexed him through years of classroom work.

We have found home teaching a forward step in meeting the problem of educating the mentally promising, home-bound crippled child. Such a child, who perhaps can never hope to attend school, or to become even partially self-supporting, or even, in some cases, to take care of himself, can become a happy, useful member of his home. It is such a case that is most challenging and at the same time most richly rewarding to the teacher who takes even a short step toward its solution. Even with such a restricted environment, an interesting and well-rounded personality can be developed.

The parents of the physically-handicapped children of Newton, who have received home instruction have certainly been very appreciative, and the pupils themselves most responsive, which is very gratifying to the school department.

Under The Gilded Dome

At the State House this week more interest was centered in the Senate than in the House of Representatives as the upper branch of the Legislature had several important matters upon its calendar. These matters had previously been acted upon by the lower Perhaps the most important of thes

Perhaps the most important of these was the so-called salary restoration bill. The bill, originally introduced in the House and calling for a one-third restoration of the reduction of state employees' salaries, had been amended to provide full restoration before coming up on the floor of the Senate. After considerable debate over the matter and an attempt to adopt several amendments, the Senate finally passed the bill with one-third of the reduction to be restored. Yesterday the bill was returned to the House for concurrence in the Senate amend. concurrence in the Senate nents and the House refused to the amended bill and a committe the amended bill and a committee on conference of the two branches has been appointed. Should this committee or succeeding committees fail to agree on some compromise, the bill would eventually die between the two branches and no restoration of salaries would be granted.

The question of full restoration was defeated by the Senate on a 15 to 19 roll-call vote with Senator Hollis voting against full restoration. The Senate also defeated by a roll-call vote of 12 to 21 an amendment seeking to make the restoration a graduated one depending upon the amount of total salary.

siderable interest is being manifested by the general public on this question and it seems certain that some legis-lation will be enacted although there will doubtless be much debate over many details of whatever plan may be adopted. The governor's new recom-mendations are considered less drastic than those suggested in his address to the Legislature when it first as-sembled early in January.

P. W. C. Comments on Change In Local Politics

Every so often the question is a saised should Newton have a Good Government Association? Once more it has come to the front. A well known business man on the South side of the city, prominently identified with local politics, suggested the wisdom of surveying the present situation. It seemed to me that the Board of

It seemed to me that the Board of Aldermen ought to have some ideas on this subject. They did. They ran the whole gamut. All the way from "Great idea—let's get busy!" to "It's almost an insult to our fair city with a subject to the and to its splendid government." Now, I am not going to quote any nember of the Board, because some member of the Board, because some of the comments were unquestionably "off the record," but I am decidedly intrigued over the divergent views. Perhaps the most popular view point was that of a South sider who felt that the various Village Improvement Associations were functioning nicely and should be encouraged. In several instances, they are even now functioning politically in a modest way. The City Directory for 1931 lists six village improvement societies. Several other villages have a Community Service or Men's Club or both. It is quite possible, therefore, that an intelligent discussion of this proposition may result in a strengthening of these local bodies and nothing more. However, I hope for something more than that and for this reason.

Newton politics have been changing rapidly for two decades. Right now, any ambitious youngster who can make a fair speech is apt to barge in and seek election to the Board of Aldermen. Think back to last December. Nearly 50 candidates for less than 20 positions in the City Government. Numerous candidates for the Board who were not taken seriously by even 10% of the voters. Three candidates for Mayor whose combined total was less than 5% of the total vote!

Well, what would a Good Government Association do about all this?
That's a fair question and here is the

That's a fair question and here is the answer:

A properly organized and properly conducted Good Government Association would do three things: (1) Help select the strongest possible candidates. (2) Back the candidates wholeheartedly. (3) Keep the voters all over the city "informed" of the progress of the campaign.

Next Question: What do you mean by a properly organized and properly conducted Good Government Association? That is where the fun begins. Are you going to try to get a balanced organization—50% Republican and 50% Democratic or are you going to ascertain the exact ratio of the Republicans to Democratic voters and give the dominant group the same dominant influence? Or, will you do neither but attempt instead to secure as the organizers of the Association a group of public citizens who command universal respect irrespective of party affiliation. Offhand, I favor the latter method, but I am open minded. Curiously enough the first six names that come to mind are evenly divided,—3 Republicans and 3 Democrats. I have equal respect for all six and I am sure that a Good Government Association organized under their guidance would be a grand success from the very start.

Women's Club Activities

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

Living Models to Pose for N'ville Woman's Club

There will be two events particu-rly interesting to the members of the Newtonville Woman's Club next larly interesting to the members of the Newtonville Woman's Club next week.

On the regular club day, March 20th, the Drama committee, under the direction of Mrs. Percy E. Woodward, chairman, will show Great Masterpieces of Painting, reproduced by living models. They have selected for their program the following pictures as representative of the periods: Portrait of a Lady, by Cranach, a prolific and realistic German painter of the 16th century; Salome, by Luini, of Italy, a contemporary of Cranach; Infanta Maria Therese, by Velasquez, who was known as the portrait painter of the royal family of Spain during the seventeenth century; The Broken Pitcher, by Greuze, an eighteenth century French painter, noted for his poetic approach to subjects; The Torn Hat, by Sully, who was born in England in the latter part of the eighteenth century but who came to America in his childhood, later painting in both countries; and The Pot of Basil, by Alexander, an American. These pictures will be posed by Clubwomen. As music and pictures are arts very closely allied, the development of music in the various countries will be followed by Mrs. James A. Moyer, an accomplished musician, lecturer, and teacher, who will illustrate by use of the piano. A very satisfying and complete program has been planned by the committee in the harmonizing of the music with the picture presentations.

The Hospitality committee, Mrs. Henry M. Weidner, chairman, will serve tea after the program of entertainment, with the following laddes pouring: Mrs. George A. Clapp, Mrs. Frank L. Nagle, and Mrs. Robert C. Bridgham. The hostesses for the tea are Miss ustina MacAdams, Mrs. Georgedna M. Harlow, and Mrs. Charles A. Roulllard.

Many and varied examples of the Arts and Crafts have been received by the Art committee for the loan Exhibit of the work of the younger group in the community. Mrs. Carl G. Cutler, the chairman, or members of her committee, will hold the exhibit from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and from 8 to 10 o'clock in the evening. The evening hours are planned for those who can attend more conveniently at that time. Non-club members will be most welcome to visit the gallery located in the lower part of the Club House.

CLUB NIGHT, a social evening, will be sponsored by the Ways and Mean's committee, on March 23rd, from 8 to 12 o'clock. Dancing, to the music of Walker's Scottish Orchestra, will be in charge of Mrs. John Kobrock. Duplicate and pivot bridge will be under the direction of Mrs. F. Spencer Arend. Other card games may be played by those who do not enjoy bridge. Mrs. Clarence A. Wentworth will plan and provide refreshments. Tickets at a nominal price to cover expenses may be obtained from Mrs. George H. Tracy, chairman, or from members of the Ways and Means committee. This is planned for a social rather than for a money-meking event.

COMING EVENTS

Newton Federation

One of the events arranged by the Newton Highlands Woman's Club last year was the Conference on Programs for those interested in that particular department of the club activities. A similar Round-Table for consideration of club programs for the Newton Clubs and for any other interested clubs in the Twelfth district, or in the towns adjacent to Newton, will be held by the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs on March 20th, beginning at 10 a. m., at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House. Mrs. Victor P. Ratzburg, the Federation Program chairman, will have charge of the meeting, and aside from those active in arranging programs of the clubs, there will be special guests. Mrs. Ratzburg's committee will allow time for a brief social period when they will serve coffee. Program chairmen particularly are urged to attend, and to contribute as well as to receive suggestions.

Morse said:

"The City of Newton has received during the year a most valuable collection of plans and notes, the gift of Mr. Edward S. Smille, civil engineer and surveyor, who died March 21, 1932. These original plans, numbering 1075, with 180 note books and indexes, are the records of 60 years practice in this city. Mr. Smille, who furnished the city with much valuable information during his lifetime, often expressed the wish that all his records should go to the city at his death. His son, Mr. Harold B. Smille, carried out his wishes and the plans and records have been received, properly acknowledged, and are now preserved as permanent records of the Engineering Department." ### VETERAN INFIELD ON HAND FOR NEWTON NINE THIS SEASON

It is an almost foregone conclusion that Newton High will have a veteran infield as the outstanding part of the 1934 baseball team. Coach Jeff Jones infield as the outstanding part of the 1934 baseball team. Coach Jeff Jones has had the battery candidates as well as the infield candidates loosening up in indoor practice for the past week or more. He is planning on a small varsity squad at the beginning of the season and if players on the intermediate varsity squad show sufficient promise that will be brought up. During the past few years that Coach Jones has been directing the Newton High diamond forces he has developed sophomore and junior class players with the junior varsity and indoor varsity nines and they have been ready for varsity play in their final year. Some exceptions have been made to this plan with outstanding candidates and they have made good with the varsity at once.

Although there are several veteran infielders available the positions they will play have not yet been determined. No decision will be reached in this respect until the squad has been out of doors for a week or two. Coach Jones anticipates getting out on the diamond shortly after the first of the Melvin Swig and William Baker are two other likely looking candidates for reserve backstop duty. Baker was an intermediate varsity pitcher last season but has shown so much promise as a catcher that he may develop into a dependable player behind the bat. On the mound Coach Jones has nothing but untried material although several of the candidates had experience last year as intermediate twirlers. The sum of $1000 was appropriated for services of architects on the new incinerator. Aldermen Cronin, Sproat and Temperley voted against this appropriation. Their action was based on the contention that Metcalf & Eddy, who are to supervise the construction of this incinerator, had stated they would make the plans without necessitating expenditure of money by the city; the financing of this project was to be done under one of the PWA grants. They also had taken the stand that the spending of a large sum on this incinerator is not in accord with the intent of the plan to provide relief for unemployed, as comparatively few Newton men will get work on it.

NEWTON TRADE SCHOOL HAD SUCCESSFUL BASKETBALL SEASON

The Newton Trade School basket-pall team had a most successful sea-son the past few months with a rec-ord of eleven victories and two defeats ball team had a most successful season the past few months with a record of eleven victories and two defeats Coach Sullivan's team was a smooth working quintet which ran up considerable scores in practically all of its games. The two losses were by very close margins. The first was to Brookline High School on the latter's court with the Wealthy Towners getting an 'IS to 16 verdict. The other defeat was at the hands of Watertown High which took the local team, 26 to 24 in the only meeting of the two fives. Coach Sullivan's lads vanquished the Brookline team earlier in the season on the Newton court in the old drill shed, 28 to 15.

The Newton Trade team scored two victories over Wellesley High, two over Waltham Trade School, two over Quincy Trade, two over Brookline High.

Donald Fournier, centre, was the high scoring player of the team with an average of fifteen to sixteen points per game. He was given plenty of support by his forwards, Albert Annese, and John Trumble. The burden of the defensive duties fell upon the two regular guards, Siran Malkasian and Charles Tutungian.

Coach Sullivan will have a number of his regulars on hand again next season and is looking forward to another good season. Meanwhile the Trade School coach is turning his attention to the development of a baseball team for the coming months. A start has been made on indoor practice and as soon as the weather is sufficiently mild the squad will get out of doors.

The Mo men have made many changes in it and other changes have been necessitated by new State laws. He commented that the city charter is based fundamentally on the United States constitution and the State constitution, and the city government is modelled after the Federal and State governments. He told that from the formation of the city type of government in Newton in 1873, until the present charter was adopted in 1898, the city government here was composed of a Mayor, Board of Aldermen and Common Council. Under the present charter the Common Council was abolished and the Board of Aldermen, increased from 7 to 21 members, became the sole legislative body.

Mr. Grant went into details regarding some of the principal changes in the city charter since 1898. The number of members on the School Committee was reduced from 14 to 7; the term of office of the Mayor was changed from 1 to 2 years; heads of departments can be removed by the Mayor without the approval of the Board of Aldermen; the office of Comptroller of Accounts was established.

The City Charter provides that the Mayor shall not exercise any legisland.

This three act comedy with its scintillating dialogue and amusing plot at its initial presentation in New York in 1931 ran for more than a year. Later it was produced as a talking picture starring Robert Montgomery and Irene Purcell and was a notable success.

Cross St. People Protest Against Filling Station

Hearing Held on Third Petition From Vincenzo

A group of persons residing on Cross street, West Newton were at city hall on Monday night to protest for the third time against a petition of Frank Vincenzo for a permit to establish a gasoline filling station at the corner of Washington and Cross streets, West Newton. The hearing was advertised to start at 7.45, but it was forty minutes later before the meeting was opened. In the meantime the citizens were kept waiting and the attorney for the petitioner, anxious to keep another appointment, went to inquire if the hearing could be postponed to some subsequent meeting.

When the hearing was called, Max Kalman of Boston, attorney for Vincenzo, said this was the third time such a petition had come before the Aldermen, and he couldn't understand why it was not granted. According to Kalman, the locus is in the heart of the business section, there is little pedestrian traffic by the place, and he has heard of no fire occurring at filling station, said he would present the same objections which had been offered at the previous hearings. These are—that Cross street is extremely narrow, many children and others must walk by the corner where the station would be located, and the fire risk would affect nearby properties. He said that if the permit were granted, Mrs. Quinn's property would so depreciate in a few years that she would become destitute. Robert S. Jigger of 27 Cross street said the people of the neighborhood have been forced to come to protest against this station three times. He said the only difference in conditions is that now there are more school children who would be endangered if the permit is granted. He characterized the site as the worst possible location between Newtonville and West Newton.

Marion E. Marsh of 58 Cross street said the proposed filt he permit is granted. He characterized the site as the worst possible location between Newtonville and West Newton.

Fire Detector Gives Alarm, Stops Blaze At Gamewell Shop

At Gamewell Shop

An opportunity to demonstrate the effectiveness of its own apparatus on home ground was afforded the Gamewell Company of Newton, manufacturers of fire alarm systems, when a dust explosion in a steam heated air blower caused a fire in their plant early Wednesday morning. Being guarded by ingenious fire detecting devices the damage was confined to about $150. A unique installation protects the plant by which the sprinkler system is directly connected with a master fire alarm box of the Newton-Fire Alarm System. So quick was the response by Chief Randlett and his men that they were on the scene before the local gong alarm on the side of the Gamewell plant sounded. Immediate extinguishing of the fire by sprinklers plus automatic summoning of the Newton Fire Department prevented what might have easily been a serious fire.

Concerning these addresses Dr. Bartlett says: "Many services of Holy Week cast a gloom instead of pointing towards a coming gladness. The religion of Christ does not end at Golgotha; it goes on to Olivet and Gaillee. Indeed there was excuse for the disciples, for they did not know the coming events; but we know that the way of the cross leads

NO SCHOOL SIGNALS

At the meeting of the School Committee next Monday evening a petition will be presented by a large number of residents seeking renewal of a notification of "No School." Abandonment "no school" signal was made some years ago there was always a great number of people who failed to hear the fire-alarm whistle that was blown. Today many cities and towns are acquainting parents with the fact that weather conditions make it desirable that no school sessions be held. In recent years the Newton school committee has gone on the theory that there shall be a school session regardless of the weather and that the responsibility of sending the children shall rest on the parents. We can see no necessity for reestablishing the old fire-alarm system of a "no-school" signal but believe that the radio method is one which should have every consideration by the school committee. There are many times when parents would much prefer to keep their children at home, but send them out into all kinds of weather so that they will not lose ground in striving for education.

The Legal Affairs Committee will also report a state lottery. The Legal Affairs Committee will also report favorably, as it did last year, a bill legalizing betting on horse racing by the pari-mutuel method. Much of the agitation for the establishment of lotteries and legalizing of betting has come through the publicity given to the large prizes won by the public in lotteries conducted outside of this country. Another argument used in favor of lotteries is that people will gamble regardless of the law and we now have many "rackets" that flourish upon this trait of human nature. We have as yet Two wrongs have never made a right. Where are we headed if we attempt to increase our state revenue by feeding upon a weakness of human nature?

Oddments

It isn't often that an official report of some government activity possesses deep human interest. Nevertheless I submit that the heart strings are touched when one reads of the success of Massachusetts in providing educational facilities for physically handicapped children. Under a State law passed within a few years 39 cities and towns send teachers into the homes of afflicted children to help them with their studies. It is in reality part of the public school system and is paid for from the same funds. The wonder is that it was never and is paid for from the same funds. The wonder is that it was never pianned until 1930. Think of the years and years that have rolled by since the public school system came into being and of the boys and girls who might have enjoyed its benefits. A light has dawned for these handicapped youngsters and the employment of teachers to visit them two days each week has brought them both knowledge and happiness. The same official report tells of the marked ability displayed by many of the children. Some of them are said to have more than ordinary intelligence. The movement has only started, it appears, and before many years have passed it should have preched practically every

Here are a few examples of how physically-handicapped children of Newton have been benefited from the home teaching provided by the Newton School Department:

by the Newton School Department:

MORE THAN A STEP AHEAD

Here is a child whose doctor advised a year's rest from school attendance to fight chorea. The child attended the first grade last year, but, because of his condition, did not progress with his group. He was difficult to teach in the classroom, as he was over-nervous, and unable to focus his attention on anything for more than a short while. The progress he did succeed in making was through the teacher's efforts to give him individual instruction, for which there is not wear time in a classroom. It would have been necessary for teacher's efforts to give him individual instruction, for which there is not much time in a classroom. It would have been necessary for him to repeat the first grade this year, had his health permitted his return to school. In the four months that he has received home instruction, he has progressed rapidly, and is now doing good second grade work. He will be ready to enter an advanced group of a third grade in the fall, when his doctor expects his condition will permit his returning to schol. His marked accomplishment and enthusiastic response have resulted in bringing much happiness to that home.

UP TO GRADE

This boy had attended school regularly until his fourth month in the fifth grade, when he became a victim of rheumatic heart disease. A year later he was able to resume his studies at home. Since he had a special weakness in arithmetic, not having mastered the fundamentals in the lower grades, a thorough study of these was made. By the end of a six-month period of home instruction, he had nearly completed the work of the sixth grade. The following year home instruction was continued, and, after a few months, he was doing the same seventh grade work as his classmates, and doing it very well, in spite of the fact that he had lost a year's schooling. Home instruction had rid this capable boy of a depressed feeling of being behind in his school work, and had substituted a spirit of satisfaction and self-respect derived from his splendid accomplishments.

BETTER PLANS

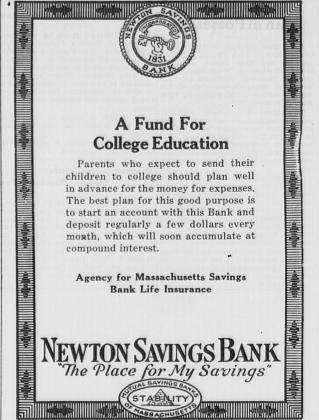

spirit of satisfaction and self-respect derived from his splendid accomplishments.

BETTER PLANS

Not always is home instruction the best plan, as in this case of a boy, whose legs were badly crippled from infantile paralysis, and whose left hand was almost useless, seven operations having been performed on it due to a severe cut. At that time he was recovering from an operation for appendicitis. He was further handicapped by poor home conditions. He had been in several institutions, and was determined not to return to any, although we did our best to change his attitude. Home instruction was given to him for several months in fifth grade work. He started simple woodwork projects, and soon surprised everyone with the dexterity of the two useful fingers of his left hand. He was delighted to find he could make use of his time in such an interesting way.

Finally his mother accepted the suggestion of our department and that of other agencies, that the boy should return to the Massachusetts Hospital School in Canton, where he would have both the educational facilities and the much needed medical care. The boy went rather reluctantly, but it was a step which he has since been very thankful for having taken. On visiting him there, we have found a very happy boy, getting around beautifully on his crutches, and doing good school work. He is Vice-President of his class, and plays in the school orchestra.

the League for your continued interest and successful carrying out of this important piece of community service.

It is inspiring to note that as a result of the efforts of your Organization in the past decade over $73,000 has been raised in Newton for tuberculosis work. The funds have been used not only for the carrying out of the Welfare Bureau's Public Health program, which receives $5% of the proceeds, but they have also been instrumental in continuing the Nationwide program of the National Tuberculosis Association and the State-wide activities of our League.

Inasmuch as all the work done by your Federation in furtherance of tuberculosis prevention is volunteer involving no overhead costs it is, I am informed, unique in the United States.

We earnestly hope that your Federation will see its way to continue this valuable community service from year to year not only for the good of the people of Newton but for the continuation of this work in the State and Nation.

Very sincerely yours, (Signed)

Alderman Pass Budget; Make Few Changes

The Board of Aldermen at its meeting on Wednesday night passed the ing on Wednesday night passed the budget for 1934. The total amount voted was $3,392,885.76; this was $9,819.47 more than recommended by Mayor Weeks. The increase was necessitated by an additional appropriation for snow and ice removal. The Aldermen offset this increase to some extent by lopping $13,000 off some of the Mayor's recommendations. On the whole, they passed the figures estimated by the Mayor. A savings of about $8,000 was made on the item of temporary loans; this was made possible by the low interest rates obtainable. The Board cut $3000 from the figure asked by the Mayor for maintenance of public buildings. A savings was effected in the Fire Department by reducing the number of firemen by one; in place of a fireman serving as clock; at this was serving as clock; at the summer of firemen by one; in place of a fireman serving as clock; at the was $1.000.

Just how does a car act when it has knee-action? The illustration herewith shows one of the 1934 Hudson cars equipped with the axleflex system of independent front suspension. It will be noted that the car has climbed to the top of the rock in the road and although the wheel is raised high from the ground, the body has remained perfectly level. This method of independent spring suspension is furnished at no extra charge on Terraplanes and Hudsons for 1934. The owner has his choice of axleflex or regular front axle. It will be noted that in this type of independent front suspension there is a big safety element in that the axle member is still retained although the wheels are permitted independent action in a vertical

Now that the cars have been out in the hands of the public for some time, reports from those who are using the axleflex suspension are coming in as a result of actual experiences. The general consensus of opinion is that there is actually a banking action on curves and on certain types of roads, particularly of the washboard type. The flexibility per-mitted with this system prevents any synchronizing of the two front wheels and hence helps to iron-out the road. A feature of the system is the fact that the sturdy cross-tie formed by the front axle is retained, although the inde-pendent wheel action is secured. Another safety con-sideration is the use of full non-skid tread on the tires.

The assembly program for March 21 began with a vocal solo by Celia Henderson. Curtis Drury introduced the speaker, Miss Richardson of the New England Society for the Preservation of Wild Flowers. Miss Richardson talked of flowers which should not be picked, of those which might be picked in moderation, and of those which might be gathered freely. The accompanying slides were shown by members of the Visual Aid Operators' Club.

two musical events to take place in the spring. Work for the annual concert of the band and orchestra has commenced. Three ninth grade divisions are planning to present an operetta.

On Thursday, March 29th, from 3 to 3:15 P. M. the Radio Club will present a school broadcast from station WNAC. Listeners-in should find the program interesting because it will show a worth-while junior high school project.

In preparation for the marionette show to be given April 4th by the Tatterman Marionettes, the Radio Club members explained, in their broadcast on Friday, the kinds of marionettes and gave a synopsis of the play, "Dick Whittington."

Petition That Schools Close on Stormy Days

About 300 Parents Ask For Closing and Signals

Walter F. Burt of 177 Nevada street Newtonville, a teacher at Mechanic Arts High School in Boston, appeared before the Newton School Committee on Monday night to urge that the public schools of Newton be closed on days when weather conditions are sedays when weather conditions are severe, and that notice of such closing be broadcast over the radio. Mr. Burt has two children who attend Newton schools and he feels so strongly on the matter of school closing on stormy days that he circulated a petition which seeks to restore this practice in Newton. This petition has been signed by about 300 parents, mostly on the North side of the city. Mr. Burt told the school committee that he found nearly all parents in favor of the closing.

Mr. Bryant, committee member from Ward 2, appeared somewhat favorable towards the petition. He mentioned that on one stormy day the past winter 200 pupils were absent from the Day Junior High School. Other members of the committee expressed views that indicated they oppose the closing of the schools on stormy days. The sub-committee appointed to study this question includes Smith of Ward 1, chairman; Bryant and Mather. Bryant, committee member

Director Mayer Announces Plans for Annual Spring Affair

The members of Newton Post No 8, American Legion, Auxiliary and everal of their friends have been to stage the annual minstrel show and musical comedy entitled "Where's El-mer" at the Newton High School audiwere, and that notice of such closing be broadcast over the radio. Mr. Burt has two children who attend Newton schools and he feels so strongly on the matter of school closing on stormy days that he circulated a petition which seeks to restore this practice in Newton. This petition has been signed by about 300 parents, mostly on the North side of the city. Mr. Burt told the school committee that he found nearly all parents in favor of the closing.

Supt of Schools Lund did not favor the petition. He said that school authorities do not emphasize 100 per cent attendance as they did years ago and that pupils are not penalized if they are absent for legitimate reasons. He explained that on stormy days, when a large number of pupils are absent, the time is used for review work, so that the pupils who do not come to school are not handicapped by not participating in advance work. Mr. Lund stated that parents should be the judges as to whether or not their children should attend school on stormy days. He called attention to the fact that conditions vary. Some children reside near schools, some at a considerable distance. Some are well equipped to travel in stormy weather, or possess transportation facilities, others do not have these advantages. The parents are better qualified to judge regarding the children should attend school on stormy days. He called attendent.

Mr. Lund said that even though some method would be adopted to broadcast the closing of schools on a stormy weather than is the superintendent.

Mr. Lund said that even though some method would be adopted to broadcast the closing of schools on a stormy day, many parents would not hear such signals. He told of standing for as long as three hours at time in other places where he has been superintendent, answering telephone calls on mornings from parents who inquired whether or not the schools would be adopted to broadcast the closing of schools on a stormy day, many parents would not hear such signals. He told of standing for as long as three hours at time orium on the evenings of April 26

Shriberg, who is in the junk business at Nonantum, was the driver of a car which several weeks ago hit and seriously injured Mrs. Mathilda Mathey, 71, of 109 Lexington street, Auburndale, as the aged woman was crossing the street at Newton Corner. The police testimony showed that Shriberg was operating after his license had expired and that the car he was driving was not properly lighted, the brakes on it were in very poor condition, and its steering gear was defective. driving without a license, driving a car without proper lights and driving a car with defective brakes.

Hugh Boyd, attorney for Shriberg asked leniency for his client on the allegation that Shriberg is in poor health and because the car Involved had since been junked. Judge Bacon stated that he would show leniency by imposing fines instead of a sentence. Shriberg appealed the $100 fine. Chestnut Hill Block

To the second time in recent weeks a fire occurred on Monday night in the two story brick business building at 23 Commonwealth avenue, Chestnut Hill, near Lake street. The fire was discovered about 8. It apparently started in a lavatory on the second floor and worked up through the roof, causing damage estimated at $800. The supposed cause of this fire was spontaneous ignition of painters' rags. On February 20, during the heavy blizzard of that day, the building was seriously burned: the damage at that fire was estimated at about $5000. The cause of that blaze was supposed to be a flooded oil heater. The building is owned by Merrill C. Nutting Company and occupied by this concern on the first floor. At the time of the first fire the second floor of the building was occupied by a plumbing shop. Dr. Walter Vaughan, a dentist with an office at 70 Langley rd., Newton Centre, reported to the Newton police on Wednesday night that he had been held up in his office by two men with guns, robbed of his wallet which contained $300 and then forced into a closet. Captain Goode and Special Officer Feeley are working on the case. Vaughan resides at 400 Crescent st., Waltham.

Nash Motor Is Extremely Quiet

It is the cork-lined and double windowed "silent room," where the 1934 Nash Synchro-Shift transmission gears are given their final test for absolute accuracy and, consequently, for absolute silence. Here, in cathedral stillness, the mirror-like transmission gears of the new Nash twin ignition cars are "mated" or rejected according to hair-breadth measurements. Their operating silence means manufacturing perfection; and perfection alone is acceptable to insure easy, quiet gear shifting for the thousands of motorists who enjoy Nash performance.

Thus, all Nash transmissions are built to stay built and to conform with the complete "silence engineering" program which makes the 1934 Nash

The Ne Plus Ultra girls' singing club of Newton Centre, are presenting their annual spring opera in the ignition cars are "mated" or rejected according to hair-breadth measurements. Their operating silence means manufacturing perfection; and perfection alone is acceptable to insure easy, quiet gear shifting for the thousands of motorists who enjoy Nash performance.

Like every other unit of the 1934 cars, transmission gears go through extensive "silence engineering" developments. Made of nickel alloy steel and electrically heat treated to an unusual degree of hardness, the gear teeth are helically cut and machined to dovetail so perfectly that their meshing is noiseless.

This dovetail design is a vital part of Synchro-Shift construction. Engineers point out that it prevents any possibility of Nash gears jumping out of mesh under pressure—on steep hills, at high speeds, or accelerating under heavy loads.

Emerging from the heat treatment crucible, the gears are plunged into a bath of deadly poison in which a so-lution of potassium cyanide removes any scale resulting from intense heat, and are then ready for the dovetailed Jappings, polishing and fitting processes which bring them through the "stilent room" tests and to the transmission assembly.

Consider Plans For Improvements In Newtonville

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Newtonville Improvement Association was held on Thursday evening, March 22nd, at the home of Mr. J. R. Prescott, 271 Crafts street.

Among the matters discussed was the possible changes in ward lines in Newton; it was voted to wait until definite hearings were to be held before taking action. Also possible abuses in parking on Washington st. and on Bowers st., near the Railroad station, were taken up.

Because of the encroachment by stores on the police sidewalks of Walnut st. by means of display boxes etc., it was voted to have the police department again to have thee police department again to have these removed, so that pedestrian traffic will not be delayed or blocked.

The recent appointment of district representatives of the Association in thirty-nine districts of Newtonville, to acquaint citizens with the purposes of the Association and to bring to the attention of the Committee any matters needing action, was discussed.

It was voted that the President of the Association appoint a committee to make a survey of the streets, and sidewalks of Newtonville, noting those that are in bad condition, so as to be ready to co-operate with the Street Department in its Spring program for fixing up the streets and sidewalks.

The committee was in favor of improving the appearance and the facilities of Bulloughs Pond by repairing the sidewalk, and by building a gravel beach and walk around the Pond, to render it more easily accessible. Also the committee voted, as in former years, in favor of restricting the use of the Pond in winter to residents of Newton.

Big Increase In Studebaker Sales

With more than 8,500 orders for March shipment, the first six months of Studebaker 1934 "skyway-speedway" models promises to be the greatest of all corresponding six months periods since 1929. This announcement was made last week by Paul G. Hoffman, president of The Studebaker Sales Corporation of America.

"The production and sale of Studebaker cars since the introduction of our 1934 models last October has been nunusually good and our records show that the six months period to end on March 31 will be the greatest October-March period we have had since the depression began" said Mr. Hoffman. "On March 31 we will have produced 34,363 cars since October 1 last. This is 230 per cent of the number of cars produced by us during the similar period a year ago when we produced 14,957 cars."

Big-hearted Friend
I'm looking forward eagerly
To hail the Eastertide;
My worldly fortune, meagerly,
Compels me to decide
Between a choice of things to wear
At prices not too high,
And so I'm shopping here and there,
With now and then a sigh.
Can one assume a jaunty gait,
With clothes one's worn before?
Or should one plunge into a strait
To keep an even score?
A woman's needs include a hat,
A man's at least a tie;
But neither's satisfied at that,
They merely get you by.
I know that I'll remain in doubt
Until it's Easter eve, Big-hearted Friend Until it's Easter eve, Among the stores I'll run about
My feelings to relieve.
Perhaps it's just as well for me
There's much I cannot buy—

Some people appear to have a mania for learning how many years this man or that woman groom. Sadder circumstances almost invariably arouse the same polite cu-riosity, usually accompanied by a semi-sorrowful comment such as, "Too

I know a youthful appearing man of middle life who is asked more often than any of my friends just how old he is. His prompt retort is, "How old do you think I am?" The answer usually places the figures much lower than the fact. No matter what the estimate is my friend smiles and remarks, "I don't see how you guessed it." NEWTON'S HOME TEACHING of the PHYSICALLY-HANDICAPPED (Continued)

Here are a few more cases of physically-handicapped children, who have been benefited by the home instruction provided by the Newton School Department.

Some Assistance at Least

A boy, who had infantile paralysis when six years of age, was neglected. His doctor, who was vitally interested in him, often tried to obtain the parents' consent to have minor operations performed on his legs, but they were unwilling to have anything of the sort done for the child. His doctor also advised, again and again, the removal of his tonsils and adenoids, but without avail. When we realized that he was not getting the proper attention to his physical condition, we tried to interest the parents in sending him to an institution, where he would receive both medical care and education. Though the parents poured words of love to their crippled son, they would not consider taking these steps that would mean so much to him in later life, saying that they could not bear the thought of having him separated from them overnight. At the age of ten he had received no education. Home instruction was begun, not because we feit it was the best thing for him, but because it seemed the only step we could take to be of any assistance to him. He was eager for an education, after much persuasion, the parents allowed the child to attend school, where he entered a third grade. Such happiness as radiates from his face in the classroom has been a joy to his teachers in the two years he has attended school. We have not forgotten his physical needs, and are waiting to be of further assistance to him, when we may.

Learning to Read

have not forgotten his physical needs, and are waiting to be of further assistance to him, when we may.

Learning to Read

This twelve-year-old boy has cerebral palsy, due to a hemorrhage of the brain at birth, resulting in chaotic disturbances of motion. He can take but a few steps without assistance, and those with difficulty. As yet he has not learned to write, it still being impossible for him to form anything that resembles a letter or a number. Being unable to dress or feed himself, and having speech and eye defects, causes utmost dependence on his parents. In spite of the many powers that have been denied him, he has an active and alert mind. His parents have consulted the country's best specialists, and have done all in their power to help him. Home instruction was undertaken with the main purpose of teaching him to read, so that his life might become enriched through the world of books, and made happier. Although he had previously received two years of tutoring, he had progressed very little in reading. There were great differences of opinion as to whether or not it would be possible for him to learn to read, because of his lack of control of head movements, speech difficulties, eye defects and general helplessness. Even at the end of two years of home instruction, his reading was on a low second grade level. His interests were so far beyond his reading materials, much being typed on a special magnatype typewriter, and the rest selected from the large type books prepared for the sight-saving classes. However, in the last year, his progress has been remarkable. We feel that home instruction is being of great value to this boy in numerous ways.

There are those who deliberately fix what they feel an appropriate age and they can and get away with it. I recall an instance where a prominent professor was asked by an impertiate the net student. "How old are you, professor was asked by an impertiate of next February," was the reply. It caused the student to shut-up.

Before dropping this subject is should like to recount as a warning my own experience. A friendly old lady once put the question bluntly to me and to be smart I promptly gave in age 19 years in advance of the core et one. She looked at me with symmethetic eyes and said, "Wonderful o one would ever guess. But huldn't tell people if I were you."

If "big" folks go haywire before a news camera why should the rest of us be expected to maintain poise and equilibrium? We cannot because the request that we stand for a picture invariably catches us off our guard. That and the thought the picture will appear in the newspapers for everybody to gaze at and criticise causes us to be mildly hysterical. When our delirium is at its height the picture is made. No, dear "Perplexed," it's just one of those things that nothing can be done about.

the Republicans praised themselves as the Republicans praised themselves as the Republicans protect the tax-payers of this great and glorious country. Have you noticed how nearly all the Republicans at Washington have been voting recently? It makes are on the inside looking out, or on the outside trying to get in again. And it doesn't seem to make much difference whether the "pols" are bemocrats or Republicans. They use about the same tactics.

The problem of notifying parents and school children should it be decided to keep the schools closed on any day is not an easy one to solve. The fire alarm signals cannot be heard in a large percentage of homes in this city, especially on windy days. Many families do not own radios and so could not take advantage of this method. And some families owning radios would forget to tune in at the proper time and then wouldn't the telephones to school, police and fire headquarters be kept busy by inquiries.

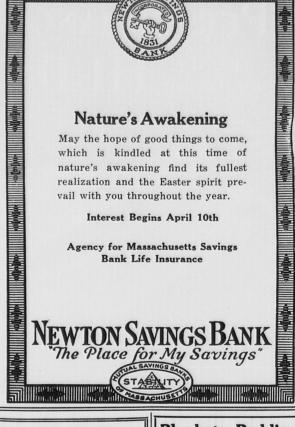

When the writer attended the Newton schools he had the advantage of residing within 100 feet of the old Armory Hall building where the fire alarm bell hung. We were sure to hear the signal, if and when it rang. And, most times after it had sounded, we enjoyed the remainder of the morning, or afternoon playing outdoors.

Talking about protecting the school children from the inclement weather. Do you recall all the agitation some years ago for the construction of the tunnel to connect the classical high school building with the technical high school building so that boys and girls attending high school could travel from one building to the other without being exposed to wind, rain and snow? The tunnel was built at a cost of $50,000 or thereabouts. And it has been used very little.

A Boston newspaper has given publicity to the fact that the reflecting ponds in front of City Hall have been largely filled, for the second time since they were created a couple of years ago, with mud and silt carried into them by Cold Spring and Hammond Brooks. Last year a sump was built at Homer street, near the entrance of the brook into the first pond trance of the prook into the first pond-let to gather the silt and prevent it flowing into the little ponds. But, too much soil is carried by the two long brooks which drain much of the South side of the city, for any sump to collect, even though it were emptied frequently.

collect, even though it were empited frequently.

But, these little ponds should not be filled in and covered over just because they serve as mud collectors. If the silt did not flow into them, it would be carried into Bullough's Pond and that skatting resort would have to be cleaned out at intervals. It was cleaned out several years ago at a cost of $26,000, and a couple of years later the south end of Bullough's Pond was again well filled with muck. The work of cleaning out Bullough's Pond was done by a contractor who employed outside labor. The work of cleaning the little ponds at City Hall is done by unemployed men of Newton. So, let the pondlets continue to serve as mud gatherers and provide work for Newton men.

There is, many times, considerable enthusiasm expressed in connection with Legislative bills before action is taken on them, but their fate is often meagerly announced. Mrs. Alexander I. Peckham, Legislative chairman, announced that Miss Lisette F. Henderson, a member of the Legislative committee of the Newtonville Club, and a lawyer, had tabulated a digest showing the disposition of many of them. This is a report which will be of interest to many women and it will be in the hands of the Legislative chairmen of the different clubs for distribution. Easter Plants and Flowers In Variety
